Geography of Word Liar.

In Texas the epithet "liar" is an invitation for trouble. When used by one southern gentleman to another deliberately, it is with the understanding that it is a direct trust at his manhood and calls for a fight or a foot race. To overlook the epithet guilt or cowardice, and with a silent acceptance of either all right to be called a gentleman is forfeited. An immediate apology is demanded, otherwise the resort is to pistols, either upon the spot, if both happen to be armed, or afterwards. Frequently, apologies are agreed at a revolver's point.

Louisville.—The lie in Kentucky means death or the drinks. Generally speaking, it means a fight, and for any man to "swallow the lie" buried at him means that his

The County Paper. Were you raised in the country? Many city people were. The touch of a ture makes the whole world kin.

"There's a little country that I love to sit and read, a paper poorly printed and behind the times indeed, with pages small and narrow and the ink inclined to spread and here and there a letter gravely standing on its head, or cap, a bit erratic boldly popping into view in unexpected places and knocking things askew.

"A real old fashioned paper, from my little native town. Each week I hail its coming never put down until I've read its every column, all the local news, you know, about the dear old country folks I lived with long ago.

"I note whose barn is painted, whose cattle took the prize, and how Trial Post has raised a squash of mighty wondrous size. How farmer Martin's daughter takes the school another year. At this I pause and smile a bit and feel a trifle queer, remembering how, in by-gone days life seemed made for mirth, I thought this schoolma'm's mother was the sweetest girl on earth.

"Now, perchance, I read that one whom once I knew is dead; or find gain, some boyhood chum the second time was wed. And so it goes and none can know that the memories sad and sweet come back to me when I read this homely little sheet."

Birds the Friends of Farmers.

Interest in the protection of bird life has spread rapidly in the United States. A number of states have enacted laws making it unlawful to trim hats with the wings of birds. The wanton killing had reached a point where American birds were actually in danger of extermination. The great majority of women whose love of display had led them to purchase bird trimmed hats have joined in the movement when the wholesale slaughter has been brought to their attention. Not alone on aesthetic grounds should the birds be protected. They are with few exceptions useful friends of the farmers. Agriculturalists, too prone to note the grain stolen and the fruit pecked by little bills, give no credit for the myriad of insect pests destroyed by the feathered marauders. They see the small damage but overlook the great good done by the birds.

Columbus.—Gentlemen may be said to have abandoned the use of the word "liar" in Ohio for two reasons—it is not gentlemanly and it is not safe.

Charleston.—The word "liar" as applied by one gentleman to another in South Carolina has meant a fight in many instances. With both parties present, the scrap is due on the spot.

Milwaukee.—Leading lawyers say that "liar" means in Wisconsin that a person is telling a falsehood and is doing it deliberately and intentionally. They hold that Wisconsin is not far enough west to make such a remark a cause for shooting.—From various dispatches in New York World.

Terms of sale one-half cash down, and one-half in six months with note and approved security. Land is sold subject to widow's dower. This June 11th, 1906.

J. C. RAY, Commissioner. J. C. FLETCHER, Attorney.

In Memoriam. Thomas B. Smith was born in Wilkes county Sept. 4th, 1877 and remained a citizen of that county until about two years ago, when he removed to the State of Ky., and remained there until his death, which occurred June 19th, 1906.

He was a noble young man and during his short life made many friends. We, of this community, had learned to love him when he visited his parents who still reside at Banner Elk.

He was a miner and was crushed by falling slate while working in the mines. How sad it is to see a young man in the bloom of life cut down by the ruthless hand of death. Truly God's ways are not our ways, but we know that "He doeth all things well."

On the 21st of June all that was mortal of Brother Smith was laid to rest in the cemetery at Mt. Calvary church.

He was buried by the Balsam Lodge of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, and the funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Newell. We extend our heart-felt sympathy to the bereaved parents, brothers and sisters and commend them to Christ the friend of the sorrowing.

Only 82 Years Old.

"I am only 82 years old and don't expect even when I get to be real old to feel that way as long as I can get Electric Bittes," says Mrs. E. H. Brunson, of Dublin, Ga., "Surely there's nothing else keeps the old as young and makes the weak as strong as this grand tonic medicine. Dyspepsia, torpid liver, inflamed kidneys or chronic constipation are unknown after taking Electric Bittes a reasonable time. Guaranteed by all druggists Price 50c."
